

Case Study 3

A student comes to the on-site warden at 3am to say there is another student running around the building brandishing a penknife and shouting incoherently. The student has previously been known to get a bit out of order when drunk – but nothing beyond usual student behaviour.

What should the warden do? What issues should s/he take into account when deciding what to do? What systems should be in place to support the warden?